From the best-selling author of sci-fi favourites Transferral and Tangled Planet comes an unforgettably atmospheric new mystery!

A girl recovering from a serious accident and a boy looking for a missing friend are brought together by a lost island wreathed in whispering mists in A Mist of Memories, a story about gaslighting, grief and the things we want to forget.

Charlotte has always lived with her family in Levay Manor, the only building on her small island. But since her accident, she no longer trusts her own mind. She's losing time and seeing a ghostly woman from the dark myths of her fog-bound island.

Ajay is struggling with the loss of his friend and crush, Oleander, who fled their seaside town after her father's suicide and the sharing of a naked photograph. When Ajay's search brings him to the forgotten island of Levay, he and Charlotte must face memories they are desperate to forget and find out who the Lady of Levay is before the legend claims them both.

The Author

Kate Blair is an award-nominated author originally from Hayling Island, UK. Praise for previous works:

Transferral

"Blair subtly captures her audience with the ingenuity of her dystopian vision and then sweeps readers away as she raises the stakes again and again. As the novel approaches its climax, readers will find themselves madly flipping pages to find out the fate of a nation." */4, Highly Recommended – CM Magazine

"Blair's pacing is impeccable, and her gritty realism draws disturbing parallels to current events. Intense and unsettling." – National Reading Campaign
